Access to education for all.

Students without Barriers (StoB) is the University of Basel's point of contact for students with a physical disability, mental health condition or chronic illness.

We advise students and teaching staff and offer services such as

- individual consultations
- arranging ways to compensate for disadvantages
- organizing workshops for university members
- raising awareness
- networking with specialist departments/offices

In its Disability Statement, the University of Basel expresses its commitment to the principle of equality and extends a warm welcome to all students:

“The University provides specific services that enable students with a disability or impairment to study without any obstacles blocking their path, guaranteeing their legal right to equal participation in student life.”

Extract from the Disability Statement, adopted by the President's Office on 25 October 2011
